

MASTER MASON RESOURCES

Congratulations on your being raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason. As you have discovered, there is a lot to learn about Freemasonry. The three degrees and these Lodges of Instruction classes are just the beginning steps of a life-long journey of education and exploration.

As before, there is an internet website with further materials for you to explore on the Master Mason degree:

As a Master Mason, you can also access our general collection of many useful Masonic Education materials and resources:

<http://EducateMasons.org>
which is the Education part of the Grand Lodge's statewide information facility, MassMasons.org.

Massachusetts is also the home of two world-class Masonic Libraries that are available for your use: The Samuel Crocker Lawrence Library is located at the Grand Lodge Building in Boston. The VanGorden-Williams Library is located at the Scottish Rite's National Heritage Museum in Lexington. The catalogs of both libraries can be searched on-line.

The Committee on Masonic Education and Training runs programs throughout the year. You are also welcome at any of the Lodges of Instruction statewide. Many of them host speaker programs on a wide variety of Masonic topics. See EducateMasons.org for more information.

We look forward to seeing you in Lodge, in your District, and at Masonic events.
